WARNING: WESTERN VIOLENCE & BRIEF SENSUALITY

Hailed as "The Whiskey Sipping Darling of the Vancouver Country Scene" (Sean McKay, SPM Music) Shiloh Lindsey pours her heart out via her own brand of alt-country music. After five years since the release of her stunning alt-country debut album, "For My Smoke" (produced by John Macarthur Ellis - Be Good Tanyas, Dustin Bentall), we are anxiously awaiting her second album "Western Violence and Brief Sensuality" due to be released through Gilded Gold Records this June 10th, 2010 at The Anza Club with Rich Hope and His Blue Rich Rangers, Eldorado and SWANK sharing the night.

A concept album with songs from murder ballads and tales of the drunken disorderly to songs about cheating lovers. "Western Violence and Brief Sensuality" was recorded and co-produced at Sound Lounge by Kirk Douglas (SWANK). This album proudly features Gaye Delorme (The Rodeo Song) on guitar and the talents of many other local Vancouver musicians such as Angela Fama and Mike Flunkert (Eldorado).

Selected Press:

"Shiloh Lindsey is a classic. Her voice like melted wax and her killer almost dreamy presence demands your full attention ... This girl is the real deal. Fans of straight-up classic country that kicks the shit outta your soul, come and get it." - Nathan Stafford (Music Journalist, The Skinny Magazine, August 2009)

"Shiloh's music is a rural concoction of murder ballads and saloon crooning that's polished and honest." - Trent Wilkie (Music Journalist, See Magazine, Edmonton AB.)

"Lindsey's songs delve fathoms deeper than the mere hook and fluff that has garnered so called new country such an unfavorable image. Her grittier numbers are delivered with the candor and power of Lucinda Williams ... one of the biggest mysteries in Canadian music today: Why isn't this woman famous yet?" - R.C. Joseph (Music Journalist, 24 hours, November 2008)
